

Bird Words

Maybe you have heard people describe seeing thousands of Starlings flying around in a close-packed flock in winter. The correct name for this is 'A Murmuration of Starlings'.

There are special collective names for many other species of birds, based sometimes on the sound they make (like the murmuring starlings), or their colours, or their behaviour.

See if you can find out what British birds are being described in this list;

A Charm of

A Covey of

A Wisp of

A Gaggle of

An Exaltation of

A Chattering of

A Trip of

A Deceit of

A Parliament of

A Raft of

A Congregation of

A Fleet of

A Murder of

A Convocation of

A Bazaar of

A Siege of

A Band of

A Tiding of

A Watch of

A Stare of

A Diving of

A Descent of

A Mutation of

A Fall of

A Spring of

That's 25! Can you add any more?

